Consulting Assignment for Analytics Program

The Assignment

One of the leading global business schools in India wished to commence an educational program in Big Data and Analytics to take advantage of the boost in the increased importance of Big Data and Analytics in the business landscape. For this purpose the school retained the expertise of NTS to harness its experience in analytics as well as its vast experience in corporate training and higher education.

Our Solution

NTS established a formal framework for the program and established processes that spanned from student induction to classroom management to final placements. NTS established processes and procedures for the entire academic lifecycle from admission to graduation, designed a curriculum that was at par with the best data science programs offered by the most renowned universities, engaged the best instructors from industry and academia and delivered an education experience that supplemented technical education with industry knowhow and soft skills.
